

Why would you change the current status quo of being able to record tv, when you have no such mandate from the people? You are inviting a court ruling that will further limit your power. You should be focused on enforcing and supporting the 'fair use' clauses of each state.

If the movie production companies are worried about misuse, perhaps they should address that by lobbying to change 'fair use'. But the FCC better leave my 'fair use' rights alone, or I will rise up with the rest of the people and restrict the FCC's power to influence issues such as these.
